Japanese scientists have used human cells to develop an equivalent to living skin that can be attached to robotic surfaces to flash a realistic—if creepy—smile.

日本科學家製作出能微笑的「活體」皮膚機器人。

The University of Tokyo researchers published their findings along with a video of the gooey-looking pink material being stretched into an unsettling grin.

日本科學家使用人類細胞開發了一種相當於活體皮膚的材料,該材料可以附著在機器人表面,展現出逼真但令人不安的微笑。東京大學的研究人員發表了他們的研究成果,並附上一段影片,展示了這種黏稠的粉紅色材料如何被拉伸成一個令人不寒而慄的笑容。
